Description

AMV as playground designers have developed a range of seating to suit the needs of early years children through to adults. Seats can incorporate features which encourage children to use their imagination transforming a functional seat into a play station or to encourage quiet social interaction and academic pursuits away from energetic activity. The seating offers a longer lasting and low maintenance alternative to wood or plastic, with the added benefit of bringing life and colour to quiet play areas. The panels are designed to allow maximum drainage which means that the seating will dry quickly after rain.
