Description

A colourful and bright variation of the traditional hopscotch game with leaves as the stepping squares and the number 10 in the flower. Best for Nursery children and Keystage 1 playgrounds. The sunflower hopscotch is one of our most popular playground markings and will brighten up any plain tarmac. Hopscotch is a traditional game, dating back to 1677 and thought to be used by the Romans to train their army with fitness and endurance. It has been known as Scotch Hobby, Hop Score and Peevers and pabats in Surrey. Hopscotch is a fun way for children to develop numeracy and counting skills as well as developing positive social play. The hopping and jumping is a great way to encourage exercise at playtimes and helps to develop fine motor skills and fitness.
